I am a curious student, amboyant programmer, an eternal learner and have used linux to code stuff since 8th class. I am very familiar with android development, linux kernel and bash scripts

Programming Languages I know include (in order of learning)-- Python, Perl, Java, Kotlin, C++

I usually how to solve problems in general Computer Science by

>Encapsulating the problem in parts,

>Simplifying the problem into an easy one and play some logics to introduce generality,

>Thinking about the problem day and night, over food, in the bathroom, and of course, in the end, if nothing works, looking it up on stackover ow.
